DEDICATION

L et's pause for a look
A s we dedicate this book, to a
R eally
R ight guy we
Y earn for today.

M emories are like a bag of gold
I n each thought of him we hold.
L ost is a pal sincere
L ost is a smile of cheer
E ver will we cherish this
R emembrance of our Larry.

OUR SCHOOL

Silhouetted 'gainst the deep blue sky.
Supreme to all young and old.
It beckons, friendly, to the ones who pass it by,
And welcomes those who enter in its fold.

It has stood the test for forty years.
Its halls have rung with laughter.
It has heard the cries of joy and tears,
Of triumph and disaster.

We hail thee Wayne, our pride and friend,
We give you thanks for all our fun.
Although to some, it is the end,
To others, life has just begun.

CLASS POEM

The jolly Seniors of "57"
All in all number eleven.

Joyce Ingle is the first, a girl with a will.
She has reached her goal, and his name is Phil.

Margaret is the one, as I can foresee,
In just about four years, a teacher she will be.

If a nurse is needed, when you've a broken hand,
Just call on Maxine Wantz, she's very much in demand.

Peggy is a secretary, working from dust till dawn,
Not in the office, but with the boss's son.

Shirley is the type that makes the boys shout "Hey",
But she's got other business; his name is Melvin Jay.

Jim Peacock is fair, handsome, and tall,
If he doesn't watch out, for some girl he'll fall.

Our next is Jim Smith who is short and dark.
With Karen Hoover he really likes to spark.

Our farmer is Bill Thornburg, and as we all know,
He'll till the soil and make a lot of dough.

DuWayne Dodd, a sailor he will be,
Riding over the waves and through the deep, blue sea.

Tom Powers, the 'hep-cat' from Southern Cal.
Is dark, daring and does he go for the gals!

Last on our list is "Charlie my boy",
A carpenter he'll be, and a crew he'll employ.

The Seniors of "57" have been around for quite awhile,
So we will leave you with a fond farewell and a smile.

SENIOR MEMORIES

THE SKY IS THE LIMIT

The Seniors of 1957 started their upward journey to the planet, Pluto, with a crew of eight on board--Joyce Ingle, Maxine Wantz, Charles Williamson, Jim Peacock, Peggy Frazier, DuWayne Dodd, Bill Thornburg and Margaret Mote joined Jim Smith in the First Grade with our pilot Miss Platt.

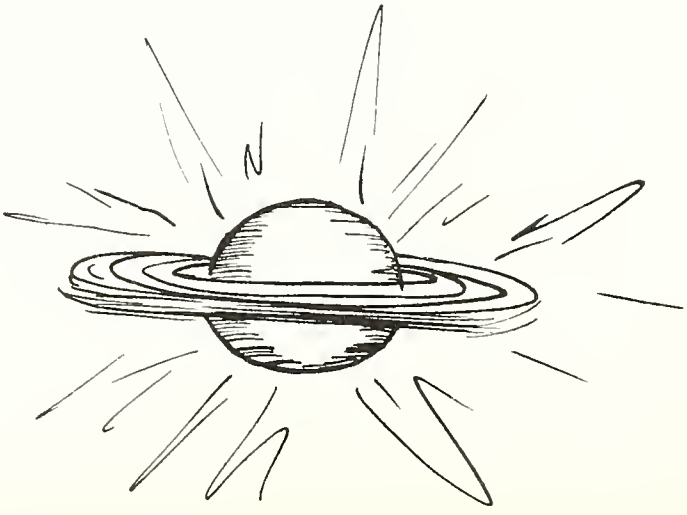
DuWayne Dodd left our flight in the Third Grade at station Mc Kinley on planet Venus.

During our fifth year, we stopped for refueling on Mercury and DuWayne boarded our ship again before we left on our skyward climb.

Janice Schultz joined our crew in the Sixth Grade on planet Mars and the next stop was station Jackson, Ohio, on planet Saturn where we added Shirley Brewer the next year.

Just as our flight was nearing its first destination, that of its twelfth year, we had a couple of changes in our crew members. Janice Schultz transferred to Rocket West Side but we added Tom Powers from station Van Nuys, California, planet Earth.

The planet Pluto is now within reach, but we intend to still higher climb into the universe in separate rocket ships. The sky is the limit--we will reach the sky when we have made a success of our lives.



LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

I, DuWAYNE DODD, will to:
Richard Norris my ability to get along with Miss Niedenthal.
Mr. Anderson my ability to keep lemon juice out of my eyes.

I, JIM SMITH, will to:
Larry McKnight my ability to fit into a pair of levis.
Bud and Pete my ability to bring all of my basketball gear.

I, CHARLES WILLIAMSON, will to:
Ronnie Imel my ability to gain weight.
Herb Davis, my ability to throw a basketball.

I, TOM POWERS, will to:
Tom Whitesel my ability to run faster than the cops.
Richard Norris my hair.

I, JIM PEACOCK, will to:
Max Carpenter my ability to stay in English Class.
John Abel my height.

I, BILL THORNBURG, will to:
Jim Thornburg my ability in church work.
Jake Moore my ability to stay awake.

I, MARGARET MOTE, will to:
Rhoda Folkerth my ability to sneeze and disturb study hall, willed to me by Peg Welsh.
Max Carpenter my seat by Mr. Stuckey.

I, JOYCE INGLE, will to:
Sharon Brewer my nickname, "Gertie" willed to me by Peg Welsh.
Patty Blizzard my ability to go steady for more than a week.

I, MAXINE WANTZ, will to:
Sophomore girls my ability to finish school.
Next year's senior class the best of luck.

I, PEGGY FRAZIER, will to
Barbara Roberts my name as sweater girl willed to me by Lois Ferguson.
Future seniors the best of luck.

I, SHIRLEY BREWER, will to:
Sophomore girls my ability not to giggle all the time.
Rhoda Folkerth my slimness.

As we were walking down the midway of the 1967 State Fair, we spotted a group of children led by someone who looked familiar. Guess who? (Miss) Margaret Mote. We noticed her students were all dressed in striped garments. Margaret explained that she had been promoted to head of the McKnut Reformatory. Chained together, the students were behaving very nicely on their educational tour of the midway.

Reaching the grandstand, we noticed a big sign, saying "Join the Navy". We walked inside to pick up any free information they might have. Much to our surprise there stood DuWayne Dodd passing out pamphlets. He told us about his exciting career in the Navy. We were glad to hear about his recent promotion to Captain of a United States destroyer.

Since the radio station was next door, we decided to go see a radio program. Inside, we met Tom Powers, who was the president of station WHS. He was dictating to his secretary, the former Peggy Frazier. They seemed very busy, so we hurried on.

Scurrying out of the building, we ran into Joyce (Ingle) Mangas and her husband, Phil. We talked about the times we had back at old Wayne High. We noticed that Phil had three leather straps in his hand. He tugged on them gently and there appeared the sweet little Mangas triplets, wearing their harnesses. We wished her luck in the future and were on our way again.

We heard the Motorama show being announced over the loud speaker. It started in five minutes and it rushed us to get there in time to see the latest models in sport cars. We were surprised to see that the attraction of the show was the Thornburg Special, designed and owned by Bill Thornburg. It made us feel very proud to see that he was doing so well.

Glancing at our watches we discovered it was lunch time. Sitting at a table in the Grandstand Cafe, we noticed three men across the aisle from us. They were Charles Williamson, contractor of the 1967 Ideal Dream Home; Jim Smith, bronc-buster; and Jim Peacock, grower of the seedless tomato. We chatted with them for an hour after lunch. Charles was still single but Jim Smith and Jim Peacock were married. Jim and Karen Smith moved around with the rodeo most of the time. Jim Peacock and his wife and three children lived on a farm near Bartonia, Indiana.

Realizing our long journey ahead we decided to start home. I guess we were in too big a hurry because on the way home we had a slight accident. We were immediately taken to the hospital in Anderson, Indiana, for medical care. We enjoyed our stay in the hospital for we were cared for by our old friends Shirley Brewer and Maxine Wantz. Shirley, Melvin Jay and family are living in Muncie. Maxine and her husband, the head physician, were residing in Anderson.

After we were released from the hospital, we decided it was worth it all to get to see all of our old friends in the Class of 1957 and to see they had all prospered since their memorable graduation ten years before from dear 'ol Wayne.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

LAST OF THE WAYNE TIGERS

Sometimes it takes just as much from a boy or a team and its coach to suffer through a winless season as it does the effort to compile an unusually good year.

Here then is a tribute to the Wayne coach and his boys - Jim Smith, Max Carpenter, Herb Davis, Charles Williamson, Pete Mote, Richard Norris, DuWayne Dodd, Bud Carpenter, Jim Peacock, and Dick Mote. They are the last of the Tigers.
